Dear Sir:

Before asking your firm to bid on the Texas Prison Museum last April, we researched your past achievements and were impressed with what we found. Truly, we have been very impressed with the professionalism exhibited by your firm. I have yet to deal with anyone connected with your firm who was not friendly, eager to assist and competent exceeding my highest expectations.

During the bidding process your staff was very aggressive and had many questions about the worked for me to qualify. They helped the whole process of bidding both exciting and I believe that the closeness of the bids were due to their questions which I passed to all bidders. A few subcontractors asked questions but few other Contractors. The outcome did not surprise me at all.

Since awarding your firm, everything has been an Architect's dream. The work at the job site is going extremely well, the materials and subcontractors have been at the site on time and their work has been very acceptable. Your Superintendent is knowledgeable and well organized as well as cooperative toward those he works with and for.

I would not hesitate to have you negotiate any future projects for me as well as recommend you to my professional associates.

Sincerely yours,

John B. Montgomery
